20		Yes	In my opinion uniforms are a big wast of money because we still have to buy regular clothes to wear when they are not in school plus I don't believe that uniforms help with the bulling of kids because of what they have on because you can tell what kids have the name brand uniforms and the ones who have the cheap ones on so no I do not want my kids in uniforms	5/10/2017 18:32	Mt.Olive Elementary	2	No

22		Yes	If it is switched to uniforms please let the kids wear jeans. It gets cold. And by George if the teachers can wear ripped and distressed jeans the kids should be able to wear jeans without holes. Also school t shirts should be allowed	5/10/2017 18:36	Seminary Middle	3	No

23		Yes	While I understand the concerns of parents and teachers that are asking for uniforms, the cost of uniforms for two growing boys in addition to their everyday clothes is out of reach for us. It will put us in a financial bind when we are already struggling to keep food on the table and gas in the car. My oldest son is also on the autism spectrum and this will be yet another thing for him to struggle with every day. I've heard from so many parents that they want uniforms because it's easy. There are so many for whom this will not be easy. This year was great for us and not worrying about how we would have to pay for another set of clothes just for school took an enormous burden off of us. The khaki pants DO NOT hold up to the every day wear and tear that these children put them through not to mention my teenage son that is growing out of his clothes quicker than I can replace them. We were so relieved when we went back to regular clothes. Please take this into consideration when making your decision. This will put a financial hardship on parents that are already struggling in a poor county. And for those parents of children with	5/10/2017 18:41	Collins Elementary	2	No

24		Yes	I feel that uniforms are not necessary in my child's education. She should be able to wear whatever she wants. Being able to wear Nike shorts and leggings will help them learn better. They should be comfortable. The student already don't have a break, can't talk, can't get food brought to them, and can't get out there phone. If we go to uniforms my child will NOT be attending Covington County School district next year. Uniforms cost too much and are unneeded. There will still be the problem of shorts being too short, sagging pants, shirts being cut to low, and many more reasons. Wearing uniforms will cause students to hate to come to school more than they already do. Many people are unable to buy two sets of clothes so all they will have is there ugly uniforms. Going to uniforms will cause more students to miss school. Students could also hit a growth spurt and may be unable to find the correct size. In conclusion, uniforms are an awful idea that would cause ALOT of problems.	5/10/2017 18:42	Seminary High	1	No

30		Yes	Dr. Crosby, I feel certain you will receive lots of negative feedback from this survey, but I guarantee it is from those who can afford to put their children in name brand clothes every year. When I was in school (not in CCSD) we were allowed to wear bluejeans with polos that had the school's logo embroidered, tucked in with a belt and I do believe it helped "level the playing field" for those who couldn't afford the nicest clothes. It was honestly SO much easier to have three or four shirts and jeans that had to be washed. No more morning arguments over clothes. On the safety side, it would be much easier to spot someone in "out of color" attire that may not need to be on campus.	5/10/2017 18:50	Carver Middle	1	Yes
31		Yes	It seems to cost more because we have to buy two wardrobes and the kids are more comfortable in their own clothes.	5/10/2017 18:52	Seminary Middle	2	No

32		Yes	I feel that if the parents, staff and faculty would enforce the dress code we have now then there would not be any problems. My main concern with the dress code is the staff. If a pair of shorts is okay for student A to wear then student B should be allowed to wear them also. I understand that some kids are more developed and look older than others. Don't send my daughter to the office for wearing a pair of shorts that you don't feel are long enough when the girl next to her has on a pair of shorts that you cannot even see because her t shirt hangs to her knees. Point being, enforce the dress code we have now and enforce it for all the kids, not just the ones that don't have the right last name and your dress code problem will be solved. We need teachers to be firm with the kids and enforce ALL the rules. I have three kids and it is very costly to clothe them without the hassle of having to buy uniforms. If we go to uniforms, that will make three sets of clothes for all three kids; uniforms, church clothes and regular clothes. If its not broke, why try to fix it???	5/10/2017 18:54	Seminary Middle	3	No

35		Yes	Parents do not have the money to buy uniforms, and clothing for kids. When regular clothing can be worn everywhere, and uniforms can mostly be worn only to school. And if we do go back to the Uniforms Please just let it be Shirts, its so hard to find pants for girls, and bigger boys.	5/10/2017 18:56	Collins High	2	No

37		Yes	I do not believe uniforms would make a difference with dress code. It would create more problems. The ones that don't follow the dress code now, will not follow another one. All it is going to do is cause parents to buy another set of clothes. Then they will have to choose between buying casual clothes or school clothes.	5/10/2017 18:57	Seminary High	1	No

39		Yes	I have 4 children in seminary school. 6 children total. So two more to attend in the future. All girls. They hate wearing the uniforms just as much as I hate wasting money on them. Clothes I would otherwise never even purchase. I can not afford the extra expense, when my children can wear regular clothes for many different purposes and occasions other than just uniforms to school! I refuse to buy them. I have got feedback from 100s of parents who feel the same way. For those who want them, let em wear em, but for those who don't, let them wear regular clothes! We just got rid of them 3 years ago... we do not want to start again. My oldest daughter is a junior next year, she does not want her last two years of high school to be in ugly uniforms. Please please please do not force this. We parents do not need the added expenses we have enough already. I can not afford it!	5/10/2017 18:58	Seminary Middle	4	No
40		Yes	a lot of families do not have available funds to purchase a uniform. Also my son is in highschool - I do not want to buy uniform for just a couple of years of use!	5/10/2017 18:58	Mt.Olive High	1	No

41		Yes	I do not feel that uniforms are necessary. If the reasons why uniforms are being considered is due to bullying you have to take into account that regardless of uniforms there are still going to be those kids who will get the "better" or more expensive uniforms. Unfortunately kids will find a reason to pick on another child for one reason or another. I understand there needs to be some type of dress code but I don't think uniforms is the answer.	5/10/2017 18:58	Seminary Elementary	1	No

49		Yes	I have 3 children 1 which will be a senior next. I would really hate to purchase uniforms on top of regular cloths especially for a child who would only be wearing them for a few hours a day.. We are going to have a tough time as it is with having to buy all the things that come with being a senior to have extra expenses... if the rules would be more enforced then this wouldn't be an issue.. 53		Yes	I believe that going back to the uniform policy is hard for most parents. Its having to search tiredly to get the right colors the specifics are demanding! As to where we can go out and buy our kids tshirts, bluejeans of any color. Not to mention all kids dont come in the same size and some uniforms arent made to fit every size either they are to big and dont fit nicely or to small and dont fit nicely. 62		Yes	Unforms cost too much money and are unnecessary. They make the children uncomfortable and provide them no ways to express there selves. 64		Yes	100% against uniforms. Having to buy uniforms and regular clothes is costly. With frequent growth spurts it's hard to find and afford khaki shorts/pants. I will soon have another car to buy for my another child and I one at ole miss. This is too much and unnecessary. I will pull my kid out of school and homeschool if need be. Totally ridiculous	5/10/2017 19:08	Seminary High	2	No
68		Yes	We already have to buy clothes for our children to wear to play in, for church, to play sports in, etc. so I feel there is no need in the school district making us buy even more things for our children to only wear to school.	5/10/2017 19:08	Seminary Elementary	2	No

78		Yes	I have no desire to buy two sets of clothing for 4 children.. Regular clothes are fine.. My kids follow the dress code that is in place now so if this is being considered because of the ones who are continually being indecent such as sagging their pants and such, I would just like to pose a question(Do you really think khakis are going to make the thugs quit putting their underwear on display????)	5/10/2017 19:11	Seminary Middle	4	No

In the society we live in the money it takes to raise children and to spend extra just to have a school attire is entirely to expensive. 93		Yes	Uniforms does not save any money, they are more expensive because you still have to buy "normal" clothes. One child will be a senior next school year and only needs 2 classes so it is stupid to buy uniforms for 2 class periods. I believe if the teachers and principals would enforce the dress code we wouldn't have as many problems as we do now I also think uniforms does not teach our children how to be independent they all look the same. It's ridiculous!!!!	5/10/2017 19:16	Seminary Middle	2	No
94		Yes	Uniforms are an extra expense for all families. Not only are you having to buy an extra wardrobe of clothes, but elementary and middle school age children grow through out the school year and have to have new sizes. Not only is this another extra expense, we would have a very hard time finding uniforms after the school year has started. (say midway thru)	5/10/2017 19:16	Seminary Middle	2	No

119		Yes	My family does not need the extra expense of uniforms. In the past, it did not work well with my budget and my children disliked having to wear them because they are uncomfortable. They were thrilled when they no longer had to wear them. I feel like as long as the child is properly clothed and fed, clothing such as uniforms make no difference in the child's education.	5/10/2017 19:27	Seminary Middle	3	No
120		Yes	It is hard enough to buy cloths fir different season's but to so it plus a complete set just dor school is outrageous. I have a special needs chikd in another school out of town that already coating extra then you want to add another exspense. I refuse ti do it due to lack of funds and if my child is sent hime then that is DISCRIMINATION AND I WILL FILE A LAWSUIT. THIS WOULD MAKE UNNECESSARY EXSPENSE UNCALLED FOR	5/10/2017 19:28	Collins Elementary	2	No

121		Yes	I cannot afford to buy uniforms in addition to "normal" daily use clothes. In addition I have to shop on sale racks buying out of season clothing. Therefore I already have my child's clothes for the upcoming year's season. Also my child is "husky" and to inforce a uniform policy on her discriminates against her body shape. I refuse to send her to school in clothing that isn't complimentary of her body shape making her feel uncomfortable and self conscience. Bullying is already an issue for her being overweight and in unflattering clothing isn't acceptable and I can't do that to her. Also uniforms takes our children's individuality away from them making them conform to outsiders ideals. Finally why force the parents whom are already on a tight budget to purchase uniforms when the administration can simply inforce the current policy (i.e. No sagging).	5/10/2017 19:28	Seminary Elementary	1	No

147		Yes	It is hard to find appropriate fitting uniforms for my daughter. She is an odd shape and height for her age therefore we have to get elastic or drawstring that is very hard to find for her age in khaki. Plus getting certain colored shoes and jackets are not always easy either. I feel that the current dress code should be enforced and that would help. But I know that's hard to do when teachers wear inappropriate clothing as well. they should set a positive example. Ms. Bolton shocks me most days with her tight, short and revealing clothing. Students have remarked on how uncomfortable she must be with her clothes that tight and in areas that they shouldn't be.	5/10/2017 19:41	Seminary Middle	3	No

156		Yes	Uniforms are too expensive to purchase along with regular clothing. They are also uncomfortable for many students. Personally, one of my children has difficulty finding uniforms that fit appropriately or comfortably, so her self esteem drops. Children who feel good about themselves will perform better in school. I think the best option is to have consistency and enforce the dress code in place.	5/10/2017 19:42	Seminary High	3	No

210		Yes	Uniforms are very hard to find in speciality sizes that my daughter wears. Also, the khaki fabric does not hold up near as well as denim fabric for my son. We had uniforms when my son was first at SES and they did not last long at all compared to his clothes now. Also, I don't believe uniforms helped in the past in regards to bullying, behavior, positive educational environment, etc. I am currently able to buy my children's clothes on sale for a great price, and although uniforms do go on sale, they are not nearly as inexpensive as the everyday wear items I am currently able to purchase.	5/10/2017 19:51	Seminary Elementary	2	No

265		Yes	Whether or not a kid has on a uniform or regular clothes isn't gonna stop bullying. It isnt gonna make everyone look alike either bc your still gonna have name brand shirt, shorts, and shoes VS not having them. Uniforms isn't gonna help protect your child either. If your kid gets lost at school or walks away from school it's not bc they didn't have certain clothes on. It's bc the teacher wasn't paying attention to her kids or that there is simply too many kids is one classroom for teachers to keep up with. Uniforms isn't gonna stop someone from walking into the school and getting ur child either. That would be called good control over your school and having a great officer there and teachers doing their job to stop any and everyone from jus walking into the school without stopping at the office first. 394		Yes	Might not be so crowded if the all the kids that go to seminary would go to the school of the town they live in. Then the schools wouldn't have to be doing this majority to minority crap. All schools would be pretty much would have equal race.. if the superintendent would pay attention to all that over half of seminary school would be gone and not over populated where the teachers wouldn't have so many kids to keep up with Then this discussion of uniforms are for safety probably wouldn't be an issue or that the teachers are so ran ragged from having so many students in their class that they could actually have time to sit down and help a student that needs extra attention with something besides the parent having to pay for a tutor or that half the people in Covington county wouldn't have to pay for private school so that their kids could actually go to a decent school where they learn. Uniforms are stupid and unless u make everyone order clothes from a catalog then no all students aren't gonna be alike. You will have name brand polos shoes and shorts vs NOT.. kids are still gonna bully with or without uniforms. Kids	5/10/2017 21:27	Mt.Olive Elementary	1	No

413		Yes	I am completely against uniforms. It's an unnecessary expense for parents especially when notes are being sent home every other day "two dollaring" me to death as it is. They are poorly made, ugly as sin and impossible to find during off seasons when your child is having growth spurts every other week. It also limits a child's ability to express themselves and highlight each child's individuality. Instead of punishing the school as a whole it might be wise to punish those that violate the rules written in the handbook handed out at the beginning of each year. Instead of simply sending them home to change and get a big one on the way back suspend them for 3 days without the option of making up missed work. They will add lace to their shorts quickly. School scores will not increase because of uniform use.. I'm more interested in my child's education then ones thought of their clothing or popularity..we need to focus more on the education, learning tools, and raising our kids at home and at school to strive for success at every level and quit with the band aid usage of uniforms and other important stances to make life miserable and force kids to give up..	5/10/2017 21:58	Seminary Middle	4	No

434		Yes	I believe that uniforms would be a complete waste of money. There will still be kids with too short of shorts, sagging pants, and too tight of clothing. I will not have enough money to by uniforms and pay for the sports my children play. If they wanted to play sports they would have to wear there uniforms on the weekends and summer as I cannot afford two sets of clothing. Uniforms are also very cheap quality which causes them to show wear and tear easily. Nobody wants to wear the ugly uniforms that match everybody. Uniforms don't let children express there personalities. In college you can wear what ever you want so you should be able to in high school. If legs and shoulder distract you than you have a major problem. I believe that uniforms will be to much trouble and will make matters worse.	5/10/2017 22:17	Seminary High	2	No

474		Yes	Uniforms are expensive and unnecessary. Many parents are not going to be able to afford proper uniform material, meaning their children are going to get called out for it. 495		Yes	I am completely against uniforms. I think it is absolutely ridiculous, and unnecessary! For one, it is a headache dealing with getting it all together. It's much easier and more cost efficient to pick up random clothing items throughout the year on sale or clearance than to pay full price for uniforms that will only be worn to school. Also, they are horrible quality, and are not worth wearing after a few washes. Complete waste of money!	5/10/2017 23:37	Seminary Middle	1	No
496		Yes	I just want to say, as a single mom of two girls, I cannot afford to buy two sets of clothing for my kids. The boys are able to wear the uniforms outside of school and appear normal, whereas the girls do not wear that type of clothing away from school grounds. I also find it important for children to express themselves, which cannot be done wearing school uniforms. Thank you.	5/10/2017 23:39	Seminary Middle	2	No

508		Yes	Going back to uniforms would be totally ridiculous. It's so easy to just buy "regular" clothes for my child, other than having strict rules on what I can and can't buy.	5/10/2017 23:53	Seminary High	1	No
509		Yes	Uniforms are easier. If price is an issue. Have the kids wear blue jeans and a solid t shirt versus a polo. It makes my life easier as a parent because there is no question as to what my kids are wearing each day and I don't have to constantly monitor whether my child's clothing is appropriate. I have a well developed female child in middle school, going to high school. It's tough having to constantly monitor her clothing to be sure that it covers all the right parts. Uniforms cut out the middle man.	5/10/2017 23:54	Seminary Middle	2	Yes

624		Yes	My daughter has worn uniforms in the past. They are a complete waste of money. They are very expensive and are difficult to find when u need to replace them in the middle of the school year. I does not stop kids from getting picked on/bullied. If the issue is dress code violations, then maybe they should try to actually enforce the code and not let kids get away with wearing things that are inappropriate	5/11/2017 1:40	Seminary Elementary	2	No

627		Yes	I'm against uniforms. Some families cannot afford them. If we want our children to be individuals and unique thinkers the way that they dress should be up to the children and parents. As long as they are within the guidelines of the dress code as described in the handbook all should be able to dress as they want. 635		Yes	We hate the uniforms. Kids can't wear their "own clothes" until and only during summer. It feels like a restriction on self expression. If others can't follow the dress code, I think they should reap increased discipline. If the punishment is uncomfortable enough, it will stop happening. Please don't punish the entire school. Uniforms are a punishment.	5/11/2017 1:50	Seminary High	2	No
636		Yes	I believe uniforms are personally a nuisance, and cost family's a lot of unnecessary money. We would have to purchase two wardrobes because they can't wear khakis and polos to play in or to church or just everyday. Not only that uniforms like we have had in the past wear out in two to three months and are faded needing to be replaced which is near about impossible if its not right after school starts or if your child is larger than most then its near about impossible and outrageously priced to supply them with one or more wardrobe. I think wearing everyday clothing allows children to express themselves. Kids are definitely picked on due to not being able to afford Hollister, Polo or Aeropostale polos.	5/11/2017 1:51	Seminary Middle	3	No

665		Yes	I was actually in favor of uniforms when they were first implemented, however, my opinion quickly changed when I actually had to deal with them. I had to buy two sets of clothes n everyday set and a uniform set. The uniforms that I had to purchase (my child has sensitivity issues and also was bigger than other students their age) were expensive even at the cheapest there were only certain ones my hold would wear. Then I was having to replace them approximately 3 times a year (not including buying the shorts for warmer months and pants for cooler months) it has been a blessing to not have to buy two sets of clothes!!!! Not to mention my child is happier as well!!!	5/11/2017 2:37	Seminary Middle	1	No

676		Yes	I have 3 children and financially uniforms are a struggle. I would have to buy 3 different type of clothing for each child. School outfits, church outfits and everyday casual outfits. I do not see how uniforms would solve a problem but would instead cause many problems. My children went through the uniform enforcement before and you would go on campus and still see sagging pants, short shorts and skirts, too tight pants and cleavage showing from tops. So uniforms are not the answer. I will say this, if uniforms are enforced for students, then they need to be enforced for teachers and staff as well. Please consider this in your decision.	5/11/2017 2:47	Seminary High	3	No

693		Yes	Uniforms are an unnecessary change to my child's school. They are ugly and uncomfortable. Even though they are expensive, they are cheaply made. There will still be the problem of sagging pants, booty shorts, and all of the other problems with uniforms. Uniforms are probably more distracting than Nike shorts. Khaki pants are usually tight around a kid's butt and with your shirt tucked in will cause distraction. Some parents with multiple children are unable to afford uniforms. They can't buy church clothes, weekend clothes, and school uniforms. While I am here I might as well state some other issues I see. Our superintendent seems to be unfair to some students of different color. For example and this may not just be the superintendent, white students get in trouble at school for wearing Nike shorts while a black student doesn't get in trouble for wearing shorts with his or her butt hanging out. This is very unfair. Also I would like to see our superintendent at more sports events. In the 2016 football season my child informed me that she went around the lunch tables telling players that she wanted bling. You	5/11/2017 3:04	Seminary High	1	No

694		Yes	As a mother of 2 and just one being in school, the added expense of having to buy uniforms for one child plus all of the other clothes he wears to church and other places etc. will really put a strain on us financially. Also, as fast as he's growing, I know we would probably even have to buy two different sizes of what would be two different sets of clothes if we decide to do uniforms. I'm very against it.	5/11/2017 3:17	Seminary Elementary	1	No

At least with the way it is now they can wear their school clothes not only at school and having one at each school and another one coming soon it would be a struggle for me. 733		Yes	I believe uniforms aren't going to change a thing but in other people's household.. So many struggling just to keep food on the table and clothes that can be used more than for just going to school.. Some that are on set income that this would effect how they will be able to buy these "STUPID" uniforms instead of feeding their kids. It didn't work the first time and when we went back to the old way, everyone was happy.. If it aint broke don't fix it and they ones who are wanting these uniforms , we as parent say "let them pay for it" . Had they not thought about with small children growing up that a parent might have to repurchase more because they outgrew it? If the reason as I have heard it for the uniforms is so that others don't get bullied because they don't have finer clothes on.. Well that isn't going to stop the "bullying" , kids are going to find other ways. I say "LEAVE IT ALONE" focus on things that need improvement in the school , not on our kids back	5/11/2017 10:46	Seminary Elementary	1	No

749		Yes	While some think uniforms simplify the school process, that's not true. Uniforms don't always fit properly on certain body types and it's embarrassing for those who have different shapes. Also, they're expensive and you end up buying multiple pairs throughout the year because they run down so easily. Please take the kid's self esteem when making this decision. They have enough to worry with, without having to find a belt and the dress code shoes in the morning.	5/11/2017 13:04	Mt.Olive High	1	No

909		Yes	I only prefer uniform as long as it is not a certain material they will be allowed to wear. In the past at another school they were not allowed to wear cargo pants or name brand shirts. I feel like long as it is kaki color it should be fine. For as the shirt I agree it should be a collar shirt, but students should be able to have a logo to be able to have different selection of styles and/or stores to choose from. For example Aeropostle has collard shirts with their logo it should be allowed. I think all students should wear any shoe of choice for as color and/or style. Students should be allowed to come comfortable to be able to focus on their school work as well as teachers should come to focus on the youth learning not what their attire is for that day, so with that being said I agree with uniform, but its not a must.	5/11/2017 15:49	Collins Elementary	1	Yes

1055		Yes	I just can't afford to buy uniforms and their regular clothes too. It didn't solve the saggy bottoms or the boobs hanging out when we had them before and it won't solve it now. The kids over weight were picked on because wearing belts with bellies hanging over wasn't flattering at all. The girls wore the shirts too tight just like now. The teachers need just as much lessons in wardrobe as the kids. Some of those women dress like they are 18 again with their clothes too tight, bra's showing and revealing to much. Besides all that, only certain kids ever got in trouble for clothing anyway. It's funny how the coaches never had a problem with the short skirts that some girls wore. 1139		Yes	I feel that if the school would enforce the dress code we have in place now there wouldn't be a problem. Another reason I am against uniforms is the fact that I have seen under privileged children having to wear school uniforms that do not fit them properly all because they don't want to get in trouble from being out of uniform. I have seen elementary children have to wear khakis pants that squeeze their little waist. I have also seen children whose pants were too short on cold days. This is heart breaking. I am against uniforms due to the simple fact that the rule that is in place now is fine as long as it is enforced. I also feel our school district has way bigger problems to be concerned about other than uniforms.	5/12/2017 18:31	Seminary Elementary	1	No

I have to buy my children clothes for other activities and clothes for school, when i could just let my children wear regular clothes to school and avoid spending so much money. If our principals would enforce the dress code policy (or let skeen come back to seminary) we wouldn't be having this discussion. The secretary or office personnel should be more strict and more cautious to look at the ID of others that come to campus to check out any child.. 1255		Yes	My child has previously attended a school district where uniforms were a requirement. There are both positive and negative aspects of having a uniform policy, yet I feel more of a negative impact. The main reason, in my understanding, for the uniform policy is to minimize a division of "class" based on clothing styles, appearance, and quality. This is not a justified reason, as higher value and quality uniform clothing can still be distinguished. Also, my child, being in elementary school, having PE and recess privileges, usually wears basic "play" clothing daily. Having uniforms would require the purchase of additional clothing, the uniforms, aside from what he wears around the house. We also, because of religious purposes, choose to wear sleeved shirts. The uniform shirts are a thick polo type material that would be very hot and uncomfortable for anyone. Note, that we are not the only family with these beliefs, but several in our district. Uniforms are also a standard for private schools. Having my child in a public school, where I pay taxes for the district, I should not have to buy such uniforms. Also- just got rid of all our uniforms due to the fact that when we came here we were told that Covington County had tried them and it did not work out and the following year they went back to regular clothes. 1284		Yes	I do not appreciate the fact that my children have to feel uncomfortable during class wearing those tacky khaki pants. I understand if they are being inappropriate and showing their butt. However if they are wearing shorts and you can't see anything, and you send them home I will be highly irritated.	5/16/2017 12:57	Seminary Middle	4	No
1285		Yes	I feel that we should not have to wear uniforms, because we should be able to wear something we are comfortable in to be able to learn. In my opinion, we should be able to wear what we want as long as it is not inappropriate in the eye of the public. We should be as comfortable as possible while learning. I hope whoever is reading this takes what I have said into consideration. Sincerely, Seminary Middle School Student	5/16/2017 12:58	Seminary Middle	3	No

1290		Yes	I understand that some clothes kids are wearing are mildly inappropriate to school but then again some children don't have enough money to be buying summer clothes and school clothes. It is also not my problem that I don't make enough money to be buying school uniforms. Another thing is that my children should not be punished for other people's actions. 1407		Yes	Research has shown that areas of discipline are improved in school districts that implement a school uniform policy. With the increase of fights at Seminary High School, it's time for a stronger implementation of disciplinary procedures and policies. My 16-year-old daughter's safety is at risk. I don't even want her seeing that. With that being said, let's do whatever is necessary to bring safety and order to our schools, and if a uniform policy helps in this process, let's implement and follow it!	5/16/2017 20:09	Seminary Middle	2	Yes

1425		Yes	Uniforms do not fix the problems that you are trying to fix with them it out ly makes things worse on our children. The bullying does not stop, it does not stop the sagging, and it does not help the kids focuses more. If covington county schools go to uniforms I will have no choice to pull my children out of the schools and home school or find a different answer to the problem. My children were picked on more when wearing uniforms than now. It's hard to find kackies to fit my son right and if I do i have to spend more than I have to get them. 1429		Yes	Uniforms make parents spend twice as much on clothing because uniforms are still not cheap. Also requires parents to buy uniforms and then still have to street clothes for when they are not in school because you can't let the uniforms get ruined. Not that the kids would want to wear uniforms to a birthday party, or to a long day in town with their family. Their are also different brands of uniforms so bit doesn't solve the problem of no bullying or picking on those with less quality brands.	5/16/2017 23:35	Seminary Elementary	1	No

We already tried uniforms once and that only lasted one year. I have two girls that enjoy wearing cute girlie clothes and enjoy picking their clothes out to fit their personalities. Its a part of finding yourself in school. Please consider this before voting.	5/17/2017 1:35	Seminary Elementary	3	No

1557		Yes	As a single mother I cannot afford uniforms and regular clothes for places away from school. Uniforms are also very uncomfortable for those children who are overweight and they feel very out of place having to tuck in their shirts. I definitely say NO to uniforms.	5/18/2017 3:01	Seminary High	3	No

1564		Yes	I think uniforms should be enforced upon students who repeatedly violate the dress code. But I don't think it should be forced on children who dress appropriately. I also feel that uniforms inhibits a child's self expression and makes them uncomfortable. It also doubles the amount of money parents have to spend on clothes. Since then they would have to buy school uniforms as well as casual clothes. It's just too much for poverty stricken Mississippians. And I would very much appreciate if the school board would take that into consideration.	5/18/2017 4:32	Seminary Elementary	3	No

1565		Yes	This only causes parents to purchase both normal clothing and uniforms costing us more money and does not prevent discrimination as the family with more money can still buy high end clothing for their child while others like myself will likely buy uniforms at walmart. Kids will still be bullied no matter what.	5/18/2017 4:39	Seminary High	1	No

1574		Yes	I am not in favor of school uniforms. I have an autistic child with sensory issues. There are only certain types of fabrics that my child will wear and the types of shirts and pants that are uniform standard are not the types of materials my child will wear. I have a diagnosis of Sensory Processing Disorder from a certified Sensory Integration Therapist that I can provide as proof. I do not know how I am going to get around this if there is a mandatory uniform policy as my child has Sensory Issues which manifests in certain textures of clothing. Please reconsider this as I also know that many parents are opposed to this. I have not spoken to one person who is in agreement to a Uniform policy. I have legitimate, medically diagnosed reasons to be opposed to forcing my child to try to learn while wearing clothing that exacerbates sensory issues. Despite ongoing Sensory Integration therapy for years, this is something that has not been overcome and probably will not ever be overcome, according to her therapist.	5/18/2017 12:36	Seminary Middle	2	No

1575		Yes	This survey to begin with is bogus! The fact that it is anonymous & does NOT work properly shows that it is just a way to make up fake statistical data! I myself can point out at least 5 ways to make it give false reading! The fact that Covington County School District is, one, trying to deceive the residents here, or two, has a staff that is this technology challenged, concerns me most of all!! You can do better! My child is capable of creating a better survey with ACCURATE statistical data!!	5/18/2017 13:37	Seminary Elementary	1	No
